Elizabeth Norval

Elizabeth Norval grew up in South Africa. She began experimenting with puppets as a child of eleven, when she and her friends performed with matchbox puppets they had crafted. Eight years later she constructed a set of puppets to use as teaching tools for her first graders. Elizabeth moved to Rhodesia (now Zimbabwe) with her husband in 1974. When her sons had birthday parties, she performed for them. After building a stage, she began performing at schools and clubs. When she moved with her family to Gainesville, Florida, in 1990, she established the Zambezi Puppets. Her early shows revolved around a set of puppets created to depict life in Zimbabwe.

Elizabeth taught first grade at Fuller Elementary Gifted and Talented Magnet School. She enjoyed teaching the elective, Puppet Play, and created plays for her students to perform. Her alligator puppet was a hit celebrating each child's birthday. She has recently retired from teaching. She is now enjoying spending time with her family and putting her full energy into puppetry and gardening.
